

SOLiTHOR has joined the Batteries European Partnership Association (BEPA), the international non-profit making association which represents the private arm of the BATT4EU Partnership. In doing so, it will contribute to the ambitious Research & Innovation Batteries Partnership under the auspices of Horizon Europe.

Huw Hampson-Jones, Founder and CEO of SOLiTHOR, said, "As we upscale our operations, we look forward to working with BEPA to identify key areas of research and innovation. Together, we will work with partners along the battery value chain and strengthen Europe's position in the global battery market where sustainability and energy supply are key."

